While there is no change in quotations present prices will hardly be maintained through the week. The cheese situation continues to attract attention on account of the scarcity of stock. Prices are very firm, as previously noted, and advances are constant possibilities. Butter and eggs are very firm at quotations. The movement in canned goods is quiet. Jobbers are still talking of higher prices for tomatoes. Corn is steady but not so strong as tomatoes, while other vegetables and all lines of fruit are firm. Raisins and currants are better movers, Oranges, bananas and lemons are holding steady but without special activity in demand. The flour market ruled steady, with | consumption quite large. The steady tone to wheat gives no room for an advance or decline in price. Export demand is light. Provisions are moving more freely, domestic demand being excellent and export shipments increasing; but with the decline in the price of hogs there is a weaker tone in the price of provisions. The iron and steel merchants report trade active. All indications of an advance have passed over and steady prices are looked for for some time The local grain market is rather tame.
